Our Vision - To Change the culture of workplace mental health

To achieve this, we believe all organisations need to address the needs for mental health and wellbeing awareness and understanding. For themselves, their staff and customers. preventing crisis through preventive measures. To achieve this, we offer a range of mental health related training and consultancy services to ensure employers are mental health aware in every aspect of their business.

We seek to challenge stigma and discrimination in the workplace related to mental health issues. We encourage employers to create an open and supportive culture where staff feel confident to discuss their mental health with their employer and to feel supported in the workplace, to maintain the mental wellbeing of everyone.

Is it required by law to have Mental Health First Aid (MHFA) in the workplace?

Currently, legislation for mental health first aid provision in the workplace is not in place. The health and safety executives says: "You should consider ways to manage mental ill health in your workplace, which are appropriate for your business. Such as providing information or training for managers and employees, employing occupational health professionals, appointing mental health trained first-aiders and implementing employee support programmes." (see link at the bottom) The subject got debated in parliament back in January 2019 where unusually all parties were in agreement. — MHFAider's in the workplace should be equal in number to physical first-aiders. Something we'll see in the near future.

What Makes Us Different?

We specialise in mental health training and guidance services for the workplace. All our trainers are highly experienced Registered Mental Health Nurses and Healthcare Educators. Our trainers have extensive knowledge in mental health.

Our trainers are Registered with the Nursing and Midwifery Council or HCPC as Mental Health professionals and educators. Beyond the initial training, the aim is to be more than a tick box exercise, but to ensure mental health and wellbeing become integral to the workplace. The importance of providing staff training, gaining knowledge and understanding of mental health. After all, it's something that we all have, we can be a long term support solution for all things mental health related in the workplace. We achieve this by providing ongoing support and guidance services. Such as our employee assistance programme or in-house drop-in clinics. New services are always under development at Mindmaps Wellbeing as clients needs arise. The latest being the return to work assessments which are now available.

If you are looking for a service not listed, please contact us to see how we are able to support your requirements.

Torbay from Broadlands

Mental Health First Aid training courses teach people to spot the signs of mental health issues, offer initial help and guide a person towards support through signposting. We don't teach people to be therapists, but we do give people the tools to effectively listen, reassure and respond to mental ill health, even in a moment of crisis. The aim is to recognise the signs and prevent a crisis with early intervention.

MENTAL HEALTH
IS JUST AS IMPORTANT AS
PHYSICAL HEALTH

Quality mental health training, underpinned by a robust wellbeing strategy, gives people the tools to keep themselves healthy and support each other. It can also help to:

- Build employees' confidence to have open conversations around mental health and break stigma.
- Encourage people to access support early when needed, for a faster recovery.
- Empower people to access support early when needed, for a faster recovery.
- Promote a mentally healthy environment, stopping preventable issues and allowing people to thrive and become more productive.
- Embed a long term positive, culture across the whole organisation, where employees recognise their mental and physical health are supported as equal parts of the whole person.

Organisation Approach to Mental Health

A cultural change to promote mental health in the workplace is necessary, to improve the outcomes for everyone who is experiencing mental health issues. A whole organisation approach to this ensures that employers, managers and staff are suitably trained to support the needs of those who require the support. For those that attend our courses they will also learn how to look after their own wellbeing.

The organisational approach is essentially to ensure everyone within the organisation not only have some training understanding mental health more positively losing the stigma and discrimination associated with mental ill health, but to also ensure they all know its safe to speak about their mental health and seek help.

We believe that all employers should take the mental wellbeing of their staff and customers seriously. To ensure this, it is important that employers and employees are aware of mental health matters and the impact this can have in the workplace. We feel that to encourage employees to be open about their mental health needs, makes for a healthier, happier and more productive workforce.

An organisation which adopts this approach to mental health awareness enables employers to support their staff effectively, reducing absences, presenteeism and recruitment costs. We highly recommend a proactive approach to positive mental wellbeing in the workplace will provide the best results.

Deloitte Report January 2020 (pre-Covid)

The cost to UK Employers

These figures have been extracted from the Deloitte report that was released in January 2020 which of course was pre the world pandemic. It surprises many that we speak to on the subject that the largest cost to UK employers is presenteeism.

The good news is there is something you can do about it;

- Through educating and supporting staff with their mental health and wellbeing.
- Take a positive and proactive approach to mental health.
- Create an environment where It's not just OK to talk about mental health, but encouraged.
- Learn how to spot the signs and symptoms of poor mental health for early intervention.
- Self-Care
- Stress management
- Listening skills

Do you have a mental health policy in place?

Mindmaps Wellbeing can work with your organisation to create a new or review an existing mental health and wellbeing policy.

What is a mental health policy?

It is an official statement that provides the overall direction for mental health by defining a vision, values, principles and objectives, and by establishing a broad model for action to achieve that vision.

The policy may include details outlining the health and wellbeing aims for your business on the following topics; Aim of the policy, Objectives, Communication, Reviewing and monitoring of the policy.

The overall health of a workplace includes both the physical and psychological well-being of its workers. All these factors play a role in employee mental health. There is also a legislative requirement for employers to protect the mental and physical health of their employees.

Mental Health Policy

Guidance & Support Services

Return to work assessments

This service can be completed online or in person. It is designed to help determine the mental fitness of an individual returning to the workplace. We provide guidance on any reasonable adjustments that may be needed, in order to support the individual's return to work. The assessment encourages a discussion around their mental wellbeing with a professional outside the workplace, which employees can often find easier. Many physical health issues can lead towards a mental health problem, making the review relevant for all staff returning from a period of sickness. This service has helped identify various mental health issues that people were hiding behind other ailments, such as 'A bad back' or 'Upset Stomach' to enable them to get the help and support they require and not simply struggle through. Following the assessment session, a report will be put together with our recommendations to support the individual.

Mental wellbeing assessment

Our wellbeing assessment will explore the issues the individual is struggling with and provide guidance and support from a registered mental health nurse / occupational therapist.

The assessment is often enough to provide the individual with enough self-help techniques.

The session is not on a timer, as it depends on the individual situation, it can vary, although usually around 1-2 hours is a good guide.

A report of the discussion will be compiled, with recommendations for the next steps for support. This can include a recommendation for further clinical treatment or reasonable adjustments within the workplace to support the individual.

By Registered Mental Health Nurses or Occupational Therapist with specialist background in mental health

Available through the workplace or organisation's only, for more information on this service, please contact us.

'Bridging the gap'

Specialist mental health (EAP)

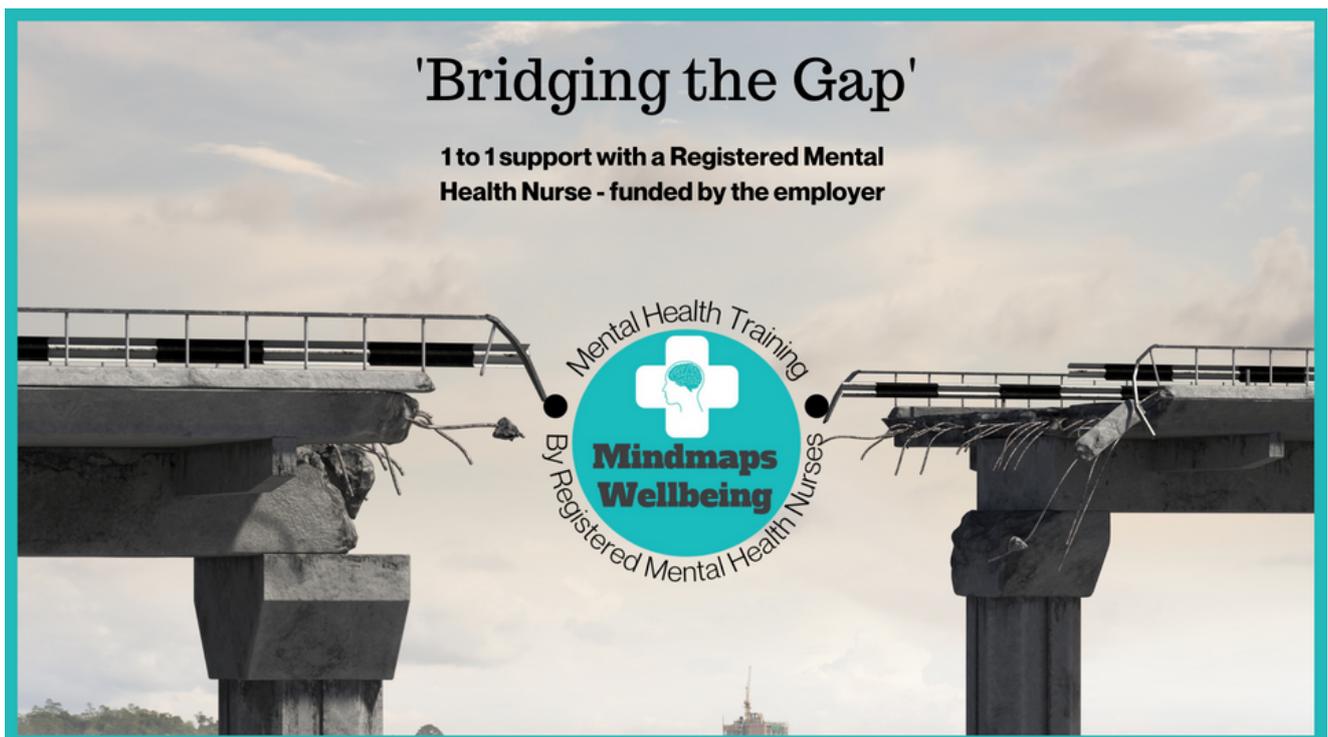

What is the Employee Assistance Programme?

Otherwise, known as 'Bridging the Gap' comes into action when an individual is struggling with their mental health, signposting has been completed and now they are waiting for treatment. Just as with physical health there is a typically long waiting list to be seen by a professional and receive any treatment.

During this time people tend to generally decline in health. It often follows with a period of long term absence as a result. It is estimated the cost of mental health in the workplace amounts to £1000 per employee a year.*

At Mindmaps Wellbeing we have a team of registered mental health professionals on hand to deliver relatively immediate treatment, avoiding the waiting time. We complete an initial assessment for a fixed fee, this is finalised in a report with our recommendations. If a treatment programme is the best course of action suggested, then this is arranged on an individual basis. This service has proved extremely popular with our customers with the feedback we are receiving as it is good for the wellbeing of the individual who's struggling and now able to be assisted immediately. Naturally it is also good for the organisation as the expectation is for the employee to remain within work where possible, or at the least be absent for a considerably shorter period. Towards the back of the brochure you will find a case study /review from AC Landscapes and Treeworks who have been using our services for around seven months to see its benefits. They believe a life may well have been saved as a direct result from our training combined with this service. (You will be able to see in our case study - testimonial.)

Case Study / Testimonial

As a business and as the health and safety director it is our legal requirement to protect the workforce and to provide them with the training to be able to deliver the works in a safe manner. Over the past years the obvious element of training has been focused on the physical side such as the safe use of chainsaws and other machinery. We also have a duty of care towards employees and public. All our employees are provided with the tools to deliver the works as required. Each of these tools, in the wrong hands or in the hands of an individual who may not be focused could lead to catastrophic events.

At the end of 2018 I used the MHFA website to find an approved trainer in the local area and spoke to several individuals and companies to select the right trainer to suit our needs. Tim Lloyd of Mindmaps Wellbeing came up on my search and dropped him an email. Tim sent me his CV, and we had a chat over the phone of what we needed and how he could help. With his background with the NHS I knew this guy was clearing going to know what he was talking about. At the start of 2019 myself and others appropriately selected employees ranging from various levels within the business and different area of the business sat with Tim. The idea was to select employees who would be willing to discuss mental health issues but also coming from various sectors of the business which would hopefully give the employees the opportunity to speak with others outside their business structure.

If I am 100% honest, I had no idea what to expect. I had no idea what I would achieve from the training and how I could relate it back to the business. I knew mental health was and is difficult topic to discuss and from a business perspective we had never had to deal with any

AC LANDSCAPES & TREEWORXS UK Ltd.

Safety First Safety Always

Perhaps, employees not wanting to admit their mental state or embarrassed to say they have a mental health illness, but I knew it was an area which we needed to improve. With the nature of our works and certainly speaking within our business, we are predominately a male driven organisation. It is notoriously known that men do not talk or hide their thoughts and feelings, breaking this stigma was going to be a challenge.

I left the training and had an hour's drive home to reflect what was discussed and coming to terms that I was now a mental health first aider and what I now needed to do to promote this within the business. We started with safety briefs and talks on site with the teams to discuss the training we had completed, who were the mental health first aiders and what they could bring to the business. Provided numbers and details for them to contact with no judgement or come back. We have also started to deliver, with the assistance of Mindmaps Wellbeing, the half day course for all employees and soon will be delivering the one day for all managers or supervisors. As a business we are treating mental health training as we would with any other first aid courses which are a mandatory for all on site.

Since the training in January of this year we have seen a significant increase in the number of mental health cases with individuals talking about stress and depression. It is difficult as a business to quantify this information as I am confident in that previous year's employees would have not been so open about their mental health and used 'other' reasons for their absence. I strongly believe the training we have been provided has certainly started to break the stigma of mental health and as a business we are now accepting this and ensuring the employee seeks the correct help. We have used Mindmaps Wellbeing to assist these employees and to ensure they are safe to return or if the business can assist the individual back to their full duties.

AC are also wanted to develop our relationship with Mindmaps Wellbeing and are arranging all the mental health first aiders to come together and discuss the cases we have dealt with and how we can improve our mental health awareness throughout the business. Using Tim, we will be able to learn from our previous dealings and develop our internal services where possible.

Without this training and the support of the MHFA approved training provider in Mindmaps Wellbeing I strongly believe that we have not only started to break the stigma of mental health and making it "OK to talk" within the business but with a few cases we have dealt with we have supported individuals through their issues rather than them hiding from the embarrassment of having a mental health problem but also may have saved an individual from taking their own life.
